

» What is our solution?

A unique combination of a customised tool & comprehensive consultation

» Who is it suitable for?

Mid-sized companies

» Why do we need this?

Legal risks affect all companies and are often challenging to properly identify. When it comes to contact with customers and business partners, it is crucial to always have an overview of any potential legal risks

» What do I need to do?

Remain compliant with ever changing laws and regulations

» Who is affected?

Companies of all sizes, especially mid-sized companies

What purpose does it serve?

» To protect not only your company's assets but also its reputation. The security of an audit-proof compliance management system is also of the utmost importance.

The Supply Chain Act comes into effect on January 1, 2023

As of 2023, all direct suppliers must be audited for compliance with minimum social and environmental standards - with sanctions and fines looming in the event of violations. Both corrective and preventative measures must be established. This is the only way a company can ensure that it is both choosing the right business partners and remaining compliant with the new law.
